FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE:

A2LA Helps Form the Food Laboratory Alliance

July 24, 2013, Frederick, MD – American Association for Laboratory Accreditation (A2LA) is proud to join other leaders in the food laboratory community in forming the Food Laboratory Alliance. The Food Laboratory Alliance will work towards strengthening the nation’s food supply through quality testing.

“We are pleased to help a wide cross-section of interested parties speak with one voice,” explained Peter S. Unger, President and CEO of A2LA. “It embodies our commitment to service for the laboratory community.”

The Food Laboratory Alliance represents a coalition of organizations devoted to the safety of the nation’s food supply and the quality of food laboratory testing. The Alliance is open to food testing laboratories, providers of food testing products and services, food facilities, and organizational representatives of consumers and food testing laboratory professionals. More information about the Food Laboratory Alliance may be found at www.allfoodlab.com and they may be followed on Twitter @allfoodlab.
